Reward Of $10,000 Set By P. N. G.

A $10,000 reward is offered by the Professional Numismatists Guild Inc. for information leading to the arrest and conviction of persons who participated in the M. L. Kaplan, Mel Came, Harry Forman or Marcel Siltan robberies—and for information leading to the arrest and conviction of persons buying the stolen coins and monies.

This announcement comes from Sol Kaplan, of Cincinnati, executive vice president of the P.N.G., in the wake of the four big robberies.

"Professional Numismatists Guild, Inc., is going to make every effort to apprehend the criminals perpetrating these robberies, as well as trace the coins to the fences that are buying the stolen material," Sol Kaplan declared.

"We have leads now as to where some of the coins are and will leave no stone unturned to bring them to justice," said the P.N.G. spokesman.

He asked that communications be sent to the Professional Numismatists Guild, Inc., 413 Race Street, Cincinnati, 2, Ohio, and said all correspondence would be held strictly confidential.

The Cincinnati official said the reward will be available at a Cincinnati bank in order to guarantee payment.

All four of the robberies are believed to have a common method of operation by officials. In each case the coin dealers apparently were watched, and the thieves made off with their cars in three cases.

Heart Attack Fatal To Head Of Michigan Conclave

Paul F. Schilling and daughter.

Detroit Man Stricken On November 19

The Michigan State Numismatic Society's fall convention, held in Detroit November 18-20, was marred by the sudden death of its chairman, Paul F. Schilling.

Chairman Schilling suffered a massive heart attack on Saturday afternoon of the conclave and died the same day at Mount Carmel Hospital in Detroit.

Paul Schilling, a 47-year-old accountant, resided at 16554 Trinity Avenue in Detroit.

A nationally known numismatist, specializing in United States coins, Schilling had a great love for coins and worked diligently in all numismatic activities.

"He was always willing to aid, inform and encourage other collectors," his grieving fellow collectors said in tribute.

"The success of the convention resulted primarily from his advanced planning and his diligent and continued efforts," committee members who served with him said.

He attended nearly all of the major numismatic conventions throughout the United States and in most instances had a bourse table.

He was a long time member of the American Numismatic Association.

A past president of both the Michigan State Numismatic Society and the Detroit Coin Club, he was serving as secretary of the Detroit Coin Club and a member of the board of governors of both Central States Numismatic Society and the Michigan State Numismatic Society.

He had served as general chairman of all of the Michigan State Numismatic Society conventions held in Detroit, and had been selected as general chairman of the American Numismatic Association convention to be held in Detroit in August of 1962.

He is survived by his wife, Marjorie H. Schilling, his children, Paul, Mark and Marjorie, his mother, Mary R. Schilling, and his brother, Charles Schilling.

Over 10,000 people visited the exhibits and bourse at the convention, according to an estimate by officials. There were approximately 750 registrations. Seventy dealers had bourse tables and reported excellent business.

The auction conducted by Coins and Currency, Inc., was also very successful.

Best-in-the-show exhibit trophy was awarded to Irving M. Moskovitz for his 15-case exhibit of gold coins.

Seven large first place trophies and ribbons for other awards were distributed as follows:

United States coins: First, George D. Hatie; second, Irving M. Moskovitz; third, John R. Drazen.

United States paper money: First, George D. Hatie; second, Maxwell E. Brail; third, Dr. Frank A. Limpert.

Foreign paper money: First, James Kirkwood.

Ancient coins: First, George D. Hatie.

New Colorado Shop To Open December 2

A gala atmosphere will mark the formal opening of Pikes Peaks Coins, a new shop at 230 N. Tejon street, Colorado Springs, Colorado, its co-owners, Peggy Jackson and Leonard Campbell, announce.

Prizes will be awarded every hour on Friday and Saturday, December 2 and 3, at the new shop, and attractive buys—such as circulated Columbian halves for $1 will be made available to customers who are visiting the shop.

Coffee and pastries will be served to add to the party atmosphere, the partners said.

Both Miss Jackson and Campbell bring to the new business a background of experience in the science of numismatics; both were dealers and have a long-standing interest in collecting and collectors.

Miss Jackson has been conducting a mail order business in Denver, and Campbell was located at Benkelman, Nebraska.

Son's Want Ad Causes Mother To Yell Uncle

"Please, please don't send any more packages of steel cents or letters," begs Mrs. Henry Samec, 3616 Elmwood Avenue, Berwyn, Illinois.

The Samec son, Henry, who is 15, ran an ad in Coin World recently that he would buy steel cents. He did not consult his parents in advance.

"He only really wanted a roll or two," explained his mother.

He ended up with hundreds of letters and packages of money, according to Mrs. Samec, and it has become an impossible task to acknowledge the mail.

And, of course, she said it would be impossible to pay for all the coins which have reached the high school sophomore who is "Unemployed," as his mother explained.

They have been advised by postal authorities to refuse packages now, but there is still the mountainous task of explaining to all the letter-writers. Hence Mrs. Samec's plea to enlist Coin World's help in stemming the ad response.

McBride Photo Nearly Traps Him

Federal postal authorities and the Federal Bureau of Investigation are hot on the heels of Daniel Jerome McBride, 31, coin dealer wanted on at least 30 mail fraud complaints, thanks to Coin World's alert readers in Reading, Pennsylvania.

Sharp-eyed members of the Reading Coin Club recognized a November 17 Coin World photograph of McBride, who disappeared in Washington, D. C. May 2, as the club's new member, "Ned E. Davis."

(The November 17 photograph and a detailed description of McBride was published in Coin World in cooperation with J. W. Davis, postal inspector at the Atlanta Post Office Department.)

(Opportunity for this public service developed during a routine editorial check of progress in the McBride case, following its Washington stalemate.)

New Collector Group Organized At Detroit

A collectors' society of tokens, medals and obsolete currency has come into existence on a provisional status, following first organizational steps at the Michigan State Numismatic Society's fifth annual convention November 18-20.

Dr. George F. Fuld, Baltimore, was named as nominee for president for the new group by the organizational committee acting in a provisional capacity.

Others nominations include:

James J. Curto, Grosse Pointe, Michigan, first vice president; Max M. Schwartz, New York City, second vice president; Lucy A. Kelly, McKeesport, Pennsylvania, secretary - treasurer; Clifford Mishler, Vandalia, Michigan, librarian.

Board of governors nominated were:

A Federal Bureau of Investigation agent was in the Sidney, Ohio, offices of Coin World November 22 to up-date the FBI file on McBride's activities.

"We want to locate him, and talk with him," the FBI agent said as he indicated there could be fraud by wire somewhere along the line.

"There is no federal violation involving coins," the agent disclosed, "but fraud by wire is a federal offense."

An over-enthusiased junior member of the club challenged Davis-McBride at a November 21 meeting of the club. He agreed there was a likeness but denied any connection.

He lingered, however, only long enough to close out his checking account and safety deposit box before he vanished from Reading on November 22!

The one-time Atlanta, Georgia, coin dealer left behind him a new coin store at 836 Penn Street in Reading, a token number of coins and supplies and a "fiancee" who suffered from shock when postal authorities and detectives from Reading advised her of "Davis" alleged identity.

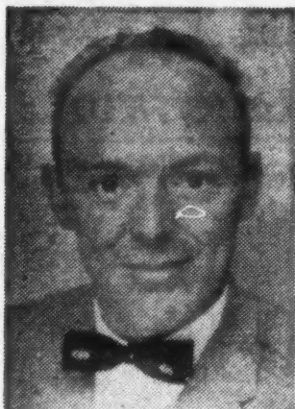

(McBride's wife in Atlanta, a bride of six months when he disappeared in Washington last spring, was convinced he met with foul play, according to officials.)

McBride also left behind his trailer and a phony check written in payment for his store rent; two previous rent checks were alright, according to Police Detective Walter Nawoczenski of Reading who shared the investigation duties with Reading Postal Inspector Robert Ramsdell.

Reading; its name was "Davis Hobbies, coins and toys," and his business card read: "We buy old coins."

He opened the shop about six months ago, and one of his first acts after he arrived in Reading was to purchase a $4,500 automobile. His home address was 400 Midland Avenue, Stony Creek, Reading.

Reading police want him specifically on a bad check count—federal postal authorities on a series of mail fraud counts.

Postal Inspector J. W. Davis in Atlanta, Georgia, said an all points warrant and circular had been issued in an effort to tighten the ring around McBride.

Both Reading officials and Inspector Davis were optimistic about current leads.

"A good lesson when you catch a big fish is not to play with him," said Cyrus Rhode, a member of the Reading club. "Report suspicions promptly to local police or postal authorities."

"Had Davis been reported that evening, November 21, he would be behind bars now and collectors would be better off for his riddance."

McBride disappeared May 2 with a reported $15,000 on his person in Washington, D.C., leaving behind the luggage, his checkbook and most of his clothing at the Hotel Washington.

He was in the capital to buy $2400 worth of new cents for Raymond Kotansky, a Streator, Ill., coin dealer.

tation, according to a check with some of his associates, failed to claim money orders and telegraphed funds totaling $6,000 waiting for him at the Washington hotel.

Mrs. McBride in Atlanta hired private detectives to join in the search for her husband to aid the missing persons bureau in Washington.

Another Reading numismatist, Robert Gerber, told Coin World he recognized "Davis" right away from the Coin World photograph.

"He fit the description to his bow tie," said Gerber.

"I still wasn't positive, so when I returned home I dug up the June 2 issue. . . . then I was more positive."

Gerber checked the American Numismatic Association's directory for a Ned Davis, but found none. The Reading collector notified the Atlanta postal inspector and the postal official in Reading. The Reading police was alerted by Inspector Ramsdell.

Gerber said McBride tacked a sign on the door of his store which read, "Gone to Philadelphia, Pa., Ned." Later he is reported to have telephoned a friend that he was in New York with a broken leg.

"He bought coins on credit and has some local collectors hooked," Gerber advised Coin World.

Melvin Came, of Dover, N. H., was robbed of from $50,000 to $60,000 in Washington, Pennsylvania, November 5 when robbers drove his car away from a restaurant.

M. L. Kaplan lost $40,000 in coins and currency in the same way. His car was parked outside a Wilmington, Delaware, restaurant, October 30. Thieves drove it off and removed the coins.

Harry J. Forman's car was parked in front of his Philadelphia home with a collection of rare coins on October 12 when the robbers drove it away to loot it.

The organizers recommended affiliation as a corporate member with the American Numismatic Association.

Approximately a dozen persons attended the preliminary session for first plans. They represented more than 80 collectors from all parts of the country who responded to the first announcement of the proposed group.

A formal invitation went to the American Vecturist Association to join the new club.

World Beats Path To Door Of Mint Executive

Dr. Howard Advisor In Many Lands

A man with an international reputation as an authority on financial, mint, precious metals and coinage systems is Dr. F. Leland Howard, assistant director of the United States Mint.

Dr. Howard has advised the governments of Germany, Japan, Peru, India and Australia in his soft, southern accents on a series of highly specialized areas.

His most recent consultation was an invitation by the Australian government to Dr. Howard to be their guest and report on a decimal coinage system and the reconstitution of the coinage system in Australia.

A veteran of nearly 27 years in the Mint service, genial Dr. Howard, who projects a personality centered by a hard core of knowledge and experience, started as an auditor.

He rose through the ranks as budget officer, field examiner, head of the silver unit, administrative assistant to the director and to his high post in 1938 as assistant and often as acting director of the United States Mint.

The army called upon Dr. Howard for his advice in 1945—and he went to Germany to study the precious metals program there. Swiftly his services were required in the same capacity by the eighth army in Japan.

Down South America way went Dr. Howard in 1951 when the Peruvian officials needed advice about their government's financial and Mint matters.

In 1957 Dr. Howard headed a mission to India for the purpose of negotiating the return of lend-lease silver.

The University of Kentucky claims Dr. Howard—he received a B.S. degree from its College of Commerce. His master and doctor's degrees were received in economics from the University of Virginia.

His first teaching experiences did not involve world governments—he taught accounting at the University of Virginia and various subjects at Columbus University's night school in Washington, D. C.

Dr. Howard is a native of Hodgenville, Kentucky, born August 21, 1907, the son of Joseph Benedict and Florence Howard.

He married Edith Owen Sisk; their daughters are Anne Dudley, Nancy Lee and Elizabeth Marshall.

The Mint executive, a member of the Presbyterian church, is affiliated with the Beta Gamma Sigma, Phi Sigma Kappa and Delta Sigma Pi fraternities.

In addition to his many demands as an advisor in many capacities, Dr. Howard has also prepared or of newspapers, periodicals and encyclopedia information for a number of years.

Tribute To A Manager

Paul Schilling was one of the hardest workers at a coin convention. He would manage, he would labor, he would watch the thousands of minute details that always needed someone's attention and always the little details meant the success of a convention.

For the last several years every convention in the Detroit area bore the Schilling mark. He was called upon to guide the activity of committees and usually to chairman the convention. All his effort was given unselfishly. His own coin shop or bourse table went unattended hours at a time while he was doing something for others.

Paul loved conventions. The gatherings brought many of his friends to Detroit. He was excited from the moment the early dealers arrived until the last display case was packed for shipment. His own enthusiasm spread to those who worked with him and it lightened the job when he was around. To convention visitors the bald man with the round face always had a smile and a kind word for everyone.

Last week Paul Schilling died . . . at a coin convention.

What's In A Name?

Several dealers starting new coin businesses in the last two months have asked us about names. What is a good name for our business," they ask, and "What should be avoided?"

My first answer to these inquiries were: don't choose names like several dealers have done recently, that imply the proprietor is crazy, insane or mentally unbalanced. Coin dealers are selling collector's items, not used cars. There is no need for a "Crazy Sam The Used Car Man" in numismatics.

Dealers should give some thought to the image they create in collectors' minds. This image is a composite of all the things that come in contact with a collector that bears the dealer's imprint: his advertising, his stationery, his appearance at conventions, his relations with his customers.

When you choose your business name, Mister Dealer, you are creating one of the keystones of your operation, and therefor your success. Choose a name well.

Three questions should be answered by every new dealer: What are you going to stock? Whom are you going to sell to? What type of dealership are you going to operate?

The answers to these questions will determine if your business will be primarily mail order sales, over-the-counter business, or concentrated on conventions.

Too often the new dealer will say: "I want to do all these, I want to stock everything," and he will name his business: Ye Old Coin Shoppe. He might do better to specialize in a narrower field, concentrate on one type of selling, and choose a better name.

But what is a good name? As a rule of thumb, use your own name! You can never go wrong dealing under your own name.

When you open a shop you may wish to name it something different, and many dealerships are incorporating these days. New problems arise in choosing a name.

An important point is to develop your own individuality, don't duplicate or simulate an established dealer's name. We have some three thousand coin dealers in our files. Possibly half of these are non-personal names. If you wish to write us in advance of choosing a name, we would be happy to see if your chosen name is unduplicated.

Use your imagination, your own likes and dislikes, your own tastes. Make your name mean you! But be sure you are creating the image you want to create.

Letters To The Editor

Your editorial, "let's stop these thefts," (was) very poignant. The gorget advertised so well by insurance under the banner of "the public is assured of insurance" falls far short of amplyness when we read that Melvin Came's insurance policy was cancelled after the first robbery.

In marine insurance does an insurance company cancel out its policy or policies if a shipping company loses one boat in its fleet?

In land insurance does an insurance company cancel its policy or policies if an assured falls off the ladder while painting his house?

Then why should the insurance company pick up its option to cancel on a robbery involving coins? To have done what they did while Mr. Came was on the high seas, between destinations, is hard to understand. Had Mr. Came the knowledge that he had no insurance or would lose his right to be insured, would he have undertaken a trip to a far distant city to show his expensive wares? Maybe he should see his lawyer.

Isn't it time that the gentlemen of the coin fraternity appointed a committee to confer with insurance authorities in an effort to get a "packaged policy," non-cancellable except for fraud, and one that would deal with the present exigencies.

Surely for a fee even these cloistered vice presidents known as actuaries could "slide rule" themselves an answer.

The coin world is growing by leaps and bounds and will continue to do so. Why even some insurance company agents try their darndest to build a string of policies around a coin collectors' possessions and bill it as a complete home owners' policy.

Why not a complete coin dealers' policy—the kind that is kind to the assured when he really needs it most.

A. R. Martino
Waterbury, Connecticut

I have received the November 17 issue of Coin World today and have read your editorial and more power to you!

No truer words were ever spoken and these series of robberies are certainly going to sound the "death-knell" to coin conventions and is a great menace to this fine hobby of ours.

I have told you when I spoke to you previously that I was going out of the coin business because of these two bad robberies within two weeks of each other.

Since talking with several friends in this business, and having heard from many of my good customers, they have given me encouragement and hope, and I intend to start again and to try and build up a fine stock of coins; many that I lost cannot be replaced, and I must resign myself to it and pray to God that the thieves will be caught and my property returned to me.

I have already had several offers to buy some nice material, the kind of which I am accustomed to buying, and with fellow dealers' support and all I intend to have a presentable ad in "Coin World" in the near future.

I have also written to President Dodson of the American Numismatic Association, giving him my views of a maximum security program and I am sure that I will have a reply from him endorsing my ideas. Something has to be done and immediately to bring to justice the worse thieves of them all, and that is the numismatic fence.

Without this slimy individual or individuals, where would the thieves get rid of their loot?

Melvin E. Came
Dover, New Hampshire

After reading in your good Coin World regarding dealers being followed, and robbed, may I suggest that they ship their large collections to and from these conventions via American Railway Express. Their coins will then be received at their respective hotels. Send them postpaid and I feel sure all hotels would be glad to sign and protect them until claimed.

I am also sure this will eliminate these constant road robberies.

Just a suggestion. Dealers need protection more than insurance.

Ed M. Purcell
Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania

Was a time when I subscribed to all the "robbery" magazines. But that is all in the past. Have cancelled all of them and now am supplied with information on all the robberies and high-jackings via the Coin World.

Can't you forget that you are not on a crime newspaper but on a numismatic sheet? If the dearly beloved reader wants robbery stories he should surely get his belly full by reading Coin World.

Soon no collector will dare to even bring his collection home from his strong box for fear of not having it to return to the vault next day. Anyone not capable of taking care of his collection should (not) be allowed to possess one. The old proverb is applicable, "blessed be nothing."

As reflected by prices, numismatics or coin collecting has lost its zing. But with election over it will bounce back and the pendulum will swing further to the rosy side than before.

Proof sets are a hazard to own and if some of the "riggers" have their way they will go lower. All this will have an effect on the purchase of 1961. Watch and see. Have 400 sets ordered and still have faith in them.

Thanks for the confirmation of my renewal.

In reference to the advertisement (of Charles W. Cross, Hollywood, California) which appeared in November 3 issue of Coin World I did order 10 rolls pot luck circulated Lincoln cents from Mr. Cross.

Mr. Cross asked me to write you if I found any nice worthwhile coins.

They are as follows:

1911-S, fine or better; 1913-P, about uncirculated; 1921-S, fine; 1937-S, fine; two 1928-S, fine and very fine; two 1930-S, fine and very fine; 1938-S, fine; 1939-S, uncirculated; 1939-S, extra fine; four 1939-D, extremely fine.

I am sending a copy of this letter to Mr. Cross.

Mr. Jewell Ball
Jackson, Mississippi

In recent copies of Coin World you reported reactions of Kennedy and Nixon to your inquiry regarding commemorative coins. This evening, looking through old Numismatists, I happened to see:

"As of June 1st, important progress includes the introduction of our bill by Congressman John F. Kennedy, 11th district Massachusetts . . ."

Subject of article was "Bill introduced for commemorative 25 cent piece." Date of publication, July, 1950.

Had this been in Coin World prior to election no doubt Kennedy win margin would have been larger by 33,963 votes . . . Sorry, 33,982 (I voted for him).

La Salle To Be Site Of Coin Show

Private coin collectors in La Salle, Illinois, are banding together December 4 to present a one-day coin show in an effort to form a coin club there.

Scene of the event will be the Knights of Columbus Hall in La Salle where the doors will be open from 10 a.m. to 8 p.m. for the first such convention in that area.

Scheduled to highlight the afternoon's activities is a 150 lot auction at 1:30 p.m. with Ray Janusick as auctioneer.

Fifteen dealers plan to have bourse tables and exhibits are being solicited. Prizes will be awarded every hour.

Janusick, acting as spokesman for the group, expressed high hopes for starting a club in La Salle. He stated the nearest club is in Streeter, Illinois.

Approximately 50 collectors reside in the LaSalle area, Janusick said, and have been commuting to surrounding areas for club meetings. The proposed club would attempt to draw collectors from a 20 to 30 mile radius of La Salle.

Rare Silver Dollars Will Be Sold December 10 By Stack's

Featuring a complete set of silver dollars, including two outstanding rarities, the 1804 and the 1866, the Fairbanks collection of U.S. coins will be sold at auction December 10 at the famous Steinway Concert Hall in New York City, with Stack's conducting.

The 1804 dollar to be sold is the one mentioned on page 130 of the 14th edition Redbook as the Davis-Hale specimen, which brought $8,000 in 1954.

The 1866 is listed in the Redbook as "no motto", two known, and this is one of them. It came from the King Farouk collection and this will be the first time it has ever been up for auction in the United States, although it has been sold here several times privately.

In the silver and copper fields, such outstanding rarities as the 1856 flying eagle proof, the 1877 uncirculated cent, a choice 1909-S V.D.B. and 1914-D cents, a complete set of 2c pieces, and an outstanding set of U. S. 3c nickel, shield nickels, liberty nickels, and buffalo nickels, will be offered.

For the first time in many years a complete set of Barber coinage will be offered at this sale. The Barber dime series includes such outstanding rarities as the 1895-O, the 1896-O, the 1896-S, the 1901-S, the 1904-S, and the 1913-S, all in brilliant uncirculated condition. The Mercury dime series includes an uncirculated 1916-D dime, a 1921, a 1921-D, and a 1927-D.

In the Barber quarters, the offering will include an 1896-S in gem uncirculated condition, an 1897-O, an 1897-S also in uncirculated condition, and the elusive 1901-S in perfect gem uncirculated condition.

Also included in this series will be the 1904-O, the 1909-O, and the 1913-S. In the liberty standing quarter group the outstanding rarities will be the 1916, the 1919-S, the 1923-S, the 1926-S, and the 1927-S in brilliant uncirculated condition.

In the Barber half dollar series, Stack's will offer the 1892-S, the 1896-S, the 1897-O, the 1897-S, the 1901-O, the 1901-S, the 1903-S, the 1904-S, the 1914, and the 1915; all in brilliant uncirculated condition. In the liberty walking half dollar series, such outstanding rarities as the 1917-S on obverse, the 1919-D, the 1919-S, the 1921-D, all in brilliant uncirculated condition will be included in the sale.

The "king of American rarities", the 1804 silver dollar, is the star attraction of the New York City's Stack's Fairbanks collection auction sale, to be held on December 10. A complete set of silver dollars will be included in the offering.

The silver dollar section of this catalog is one of the most outstanding groups of silver dollars that has been offered for sale in many years. There is a strictly very fine 1794 silver dollar, a nice group of early silver dollars from 1795 to 1803. The highlight of the sale will be the offering of the R. Coulton Davis specimen of the 1804 silver dollar.

This dollar carries with it pedigrees going back to 1877. It was originally sold by Haseltine of Philadelphia to R. Coulton Davis. R. Coulton Davis had the coin expertized by William E. DuBois who was the assayer of the Mint and also was in charge of the mint cabinet.

An 1870-S silver dollar, a fine specimen of one of the very few known, will be offered at the Stack's New York sale to be held December 10.

silver dollar. The other outstanding rarities include an 1855 brilliant proof, an 1858 brilliant proof, and 1859-S brilliant uncirculated, and the possibly unique 1866 silver dollar without motto.

This silver dollar has never been auctioned in the United States. It was last offered at public auction in Cairo, Egypt, when King Farouk's collection was sold.

The pedigree of this great rarity can be traced back to the Woodin

Buyers at Stack's December 10 sale in New York City will have an opportunity to bid on the 1884 trade dollar—one of the six known to be in existence.

collection and was then sold to F.C.C. Boyd who then sold it to Wayne Raymond.

It next passed to Col. E.H.R. Green and then back to F.C.C. Boyd and then to the King Farouk collection. The rarity of this coin is on a par with any of the great rarities of the U. S. silver series. This certainly is a once-in-a-lifetime opportunity to obtain a coin of this rarity.

Also in the silver dollar collection is an 1870-S very fine, an 1871-CC very fine, an 1873-CC, and the 1895 brilliant proof.

The sale will conclude with the offering of a collection of trade dollars. Such outstanding rarities as an 1877-CC uncirculated, and the rare 1884 trade dollar in proof will be included.

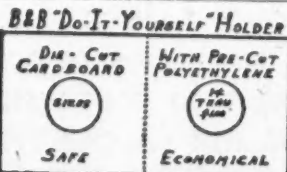

This sale will afford collectors throughout the country the opportunity of getting outstanding rarities in choice condition in the silver and copper fields.

Commems May Get Boost By Demo President

By Jim Kelly

333 W. First St., Dayton 2, Ohio

Now that the election is over, post-mortems as to the hows, whys, and who-dunnits seem to be in order. Coin World being a new and modern up-to-the-minute publication, it would seem amiss if we did not make an analysis in regards to coins. Since commemoratives are subject to, and require more political influence than any other numismatic item, let's take a look at the score between the elephant and the donkey.

Jim Kelly

Grover Cleveland (D) signed the bill for the first commemorative half dollar as well as the Isabelle quarter which was issued for the Columbian exposition, 1892-1893.

With the exception of the Lafayette dollar, which was an international issue, the three Republican Presidents, McKinley, Roosevelt and Taft, did not authorize the issuance of any commemorative coins. Under Wilson (D), the Panama-Pacific and several others were authorized.

Then the Republicans, beginning with Harding in 1920, got into the swing of things and authorized a dozen or more issues.

But the real landslide started with the election of Franklin Roosevelt (D) and ended when another Demo, President Truman, signed the bill authorizing the Washington-Carver series. Whether it means anything or not, we can look at the score for the past and try to anticipate the future. The Demos are far out in front with 120 issues to the Republicans' 26 issues. We doubt if this has any bearing on the future but at least it might afford some solace to the Republican coin collectors.

Colorado Club Continues Rapid Membership Climb

Eight states in addition to the home state are represented in the membership of the Fort Collins, Colorado, Coin Club, one of the most active and fastest growing clubs in the west.

On the club roster are paid-up members from California, Oregon, Wyoming, Indiana, Nebraska, Texas, Iowa and Ohio, besides Colorado. Some of those states are the current residences of former Coloradans who moved away but retained membership, others are those of visitors to the club who liked it and joined.

In 1959, the Fort Collins club had fewer than 100 members and set that total as the goal for that year. It was made, and 200 was set for 1960. Membership hit 199 in late May, and the goal was reached shortly thereafter.

Up to mid-November, the club had 100 paid-up members for 1961 including new ones, and the total will reach 233 if the remaining 1960 active members renew.

The club's monthly program includes time for trading, plus an auction, the list for which is mimeographed and sent out with the monthly bulletin, in advance. Mail bids are accepted from members who cannot attend.

With paid-up dues goes the privilege of a member's ordering one proof set at $2.25, the extra 15c beyond cost of ordering going into the club treasury. Other ways of adding to the treasury have

Trio Reviews A.N.A. Conclave At Club Meeting

William Vanco, Vestal, N. Y., Paul Christensen, Endicott, and David Bowers, Binghamton, gave a resume of the American Numismatic Association convention in Boston for members of the Triple Cities Coin Club which met in the Johnson City, N. Y., Moose club.

This trio reported U. S. coins and proof sets were selling higher; paper currency is scarce, Lincoln and Indian head cents are still top sellers. The 1942 over 41 dime among New York dealers seem to be plentiful while the S mints in the west coast are scarce.

Christensen said that at one exhibit he counted over 52 lazy "2" $2 bills of different banks.

They all reported the crowd wasn't as big as expected but that this left more elbow room to really get a look at the great exhibits. The Smithsonian had an exhibit for the first time.

Robert Hailey heads the auction committee of the Triple Cities club.

included the sale of candy and the like, for the purchase of such things as exhibit cases.

This year, the club wants to buy some display tables. They have made a deal with a trading stamp company, so that whenever a club member turns in a filled book for a premium, 30 extra stamps are given back, to be turned into the club. When the club gets its books filled, they will be turned in for tables.

Among the more prominent members of the club is William C. Rhodes, Eaton, Colorado, who was elected recently to the post of president of the Colorado-Wyoming Numismatic Association, and who was a candidate for district judge at the November 8 elections.

The club meets the first Friday of every month at 324 West Oak Street, Fort Collins. Secretary is L. Helene Bohler, P. O. Box 2, Fort Collins, who sells real-estate on the side when she is not working in behalf of the club.

New Netherlands Sale To Feature All-Gold Collection

More than 1300 lots consisting entirely of United States and foreign gold of all types and varieties, will be sold at public auction Wednesday and Thursday evenings, December 7 and 8, at the Hotel New Weston penthouse, Madison Avenue and 50th Street, New York City.

Nucleus of the auction is "Collection Cicero", former property of a mid-western numismatist. The sale will be conducted by the New Netherlands Coin Company, Inc., one West 47th Street. The material will be exhibited from November 28 on through the days of the auction itself. It can be seen during business hours, and at other times by appointment.

United States types include all the regular issues and varieties of them, including the unpublished 1909-S with double mint mark in $20, plus the California types from quarter dollars to the $50 slugs. Mint errors are included, with special reference made to the unique 1865-S over inverted 186 eagle. An 1879 Stella also is listed.

A special section is given over to gold from Latin America. Countries represented include Mexico, Cuba, Martinique, Guatemala, Costa Rica, Salvador, Argentina, Brazil, Chile, Colombia, Ecuador, Peru, Uruguay and Tierra del Fuego.

Included in the "foreign" material are items from 16 countries. Among them are Australia, Czechoslovakia, Egypt, Ethiopia, German East Africa, Great Britain, India, Japan, Liechtenstein, Netherlands, Persia, Prussia, Russia, Spain, Switzerland and Tunisia.

More of the unusual or outstanding lots are listed below:

Double eagle: 1954 large date in VF; 1854-O, in AU, like the 1854 extremely rare; 1856-O in VF-EF, scarcer than the first two with only five being known; 1879-O in VF, the only New Orleans double eagle with motto; 1880 in BU, the only one known in this state; 1882 in EF, one of only two verified circulated copies; 1888 in proof worth close to $1,500 estimated.

A 1909-S with a double-strike S, with the second punch high to give an unusual effect, this coin Unc. and the only one known; plus the 1931 and 1932 double eagles, both in BU.

Eagle: 1795 with nine leaves, one of only two known and estimated to be worth close to $2,000; two of 1797, one with reverse of 1798, EF and VF respectively; 1859-O in EF with less than 10 known; 1863 VF or better but seldom offered in any grade; 1877 VF plus, mintage of 797 and unknown before at auction; 1879-O in EF, one of the seven rarest Liberty heads.

The 1883-O VF-EF with not over 10 or 12 known; two 1907 Indian heads in BU, wire edge and periods, recently quoted at $450.

Half Eagles: 1798 in VF, small wide date, heraldic eagle, a rarity seven variety, one of only two known with the other having disappeared; 1810 small date small five, rarity eight, only one other known,

A view of Pike's Peak is shown on this Colorado 1860 Clark, Gruber and Co. gold coin, to be sold December 7-8 at the New Netherlands Coin Company's public auction at the Hotel New Weston penthouse in New York City.

A 1909-S double S on a double eagle will be sold at the New Netherlands Coin Company's December 7-8 sale in New York City. This is an enlargement of the grotesque effect.

Coins of the United States provisional mint at San Francisco will be sold at the New Netherlands Coin Company's sale in New York December 7-8. This 50 dollars was coined in 1852.

worth more than $750; 1814-13 in EF, near rarity six; 1818 in EF, another R-6 coin; 1825-21 in EF, borderline R-7; 1840-D in AU, no records of any in as nice condition; 1845-D in BU, one of the two finest seen; 1857-D in BU.

The 1861-D, probably federal, extremely rare; 1865, nearly EF and probably a former proof of which 25 were coined; 1872 in VF-EF; 1877, proof-like early strike, worth $500; 1888 in brilliant proof, one of 94 minted; 1904-S in BU, die cracks.

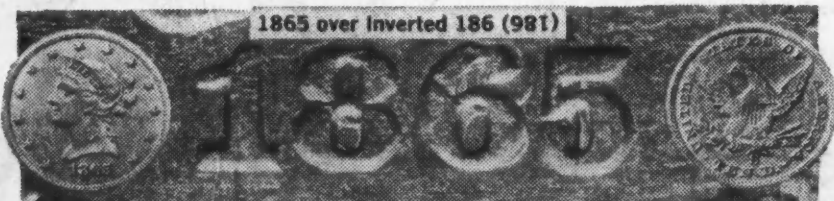

Stella: 1879 flowing hair, brilliant proof, one of the nicer surviving specimens, record of $4,000 for a similar one in a private sale to a dealer.

Three dollar: 1865 original in VF, very rare; 1877 in VF, R-2, mintage 1,468; 1881 in VF, seldom seen finer, mintage 500 for circulation, lowest of any.

Quarter eagle: 1796 in VF, near an R-7 coin, potentially worth $3,000, mintage 432 pieces; 1798 in F, wide date, five berries, high R-7; 1802 unlisted with no trace of overdate, VF; 1804, 13 stars on reverse variety, VF, a major sleeper and a high point of this auction; 1805, VF or better, an R-5 coin; 1806-4, VF or better, an R-6 coin; 1827 in VF, a low R-5; 1829, formerly a proof and now EF-AU, and another, AU; 1932, F or better; 1852-D, F-VF, very rare;

Also 1853-D in VF or better, an R-3 coin; 1856-D, VF, mintage 874; 1959-D, VF-EF, worth a record price; 1881, EF, mintage 640; 1885, EF, mintage 800; 1892 proof, 105 struck.

An 1895 brilliant proof of which only 119 were struck, rare and desirable; 1900 brilliant proof, mintage 205; 1905, "gem" proof, with a mintage of 144; 1907 proof which shows signs of handling, mintage 154.

An eagle with the unique blundered die 1865-S over inverted 186, shown here in an enlarged retouched plate, was discovered by R. J. Salisbury.

It will be one of the rarities to be sold at the New Netherlands New York sale at the Hotel New Weston on December 7-8.

Scattered Coins Found Along Road

Ed Zastro, Clinton, Iowa, coin collector had a few uneasy moments recently when he attended the Sterling, Illinois, Coinorama.

As he was unpacking, he noticed some coins were missing, a box with Indian cents and a folder of Lincolns. His son said he had left them on the car when they were loading up at home.

Retracing his route, Zastro found the folder along the road, intact. The Indian cents turned up when Art Craft of Sterling reported finding them. His car had hit the box, and he stopped to see what it was. He and his son retrieved the coins which were scattered when the car crushed the box.

Zastro gave the son a $5 reward, and he and the son were both happy.

The rare 1795 eagle with nine leaves in the branch (regular has 13) of extreme desirability as a type coin will be sold at the December 7-8 public auction sponsored by the New Netherlands Coin Company at the Hotel New Weston penthouse in New York City.

Wait Named President Of Eastern Club

George Wait was elected president for 1961 of the New Jersey Numismatic Society, at its November meeting held at the Military Park Hotel in Newark.

Other officers chosen included James Ward, vice president, and James A. Brown, incumbent, secretary treasurer. All offices were filled by unanimous vote.

Feature of the November program was a talk by Herbert Oechsner, Montclair, on "Hard Times and Political Tokens", illustrated with the best items from several collections.

The tokens the speaker discussed covered an early period of about 12 years in U.S. history, beginning in 1831. They covered slavery, states right, civil rights and the U.S. Bank, and were mostly of the Jackson period.

"These tokens", the speaker said, "appeared as small change, as political advertisements, as criticism of the going administration, and as merchants' advertisements. They were usually of the same size as the cent current at that time."

Liberty Club Only Club Now

The Liberty Numismatic Society, of San Mateo, California, is the second coin club to be started in San Mateo county — and now it is the only one!

(The Peninsula Coin Club moved from San Carlos to Palo Alto four years ago.)

The Liberty members meet the fourth Thursday (exceptions occur to avoid holidays, Thanksgiving and Christmas this year) in the lower studio on the mall in the Hillsdale Shopping Center, just north of Hillsdale Boulevard, and west of El Camino Real.

This is California's famed King's highway of old mission days along whose route were founded the string of California missions from San Diego to San Rafael.

Featured at a recent meeting was a talk on foreign exchange by M. A. E. Temas, manager of the Foreign Exchange, Ltd., 406 Sutter street, San Francisco.

Roy Hill, of San Francisco, is president; George Frost, Burlingame, is vice president, and William L. Havter, San Mateo, secretary-treasurer.

Mailable Coin Bas-Reliefs May Be Made In Two Minutes

By Art de Desrochers,
Wenatchee, Wash.
(Father of the Six Kids)

How many times have you wished you could mail your prized coin but yet keep it too? Well, cheer up chum, you can! By sending an aluminum bas relief, that is. Far better than a photograph, or pencil shading on thin paper, this technique requires no special skills. And best of all, the two common items needed are probably as close as your kitchen cupboard. At least they are as close as the nearest grocery. You need only heavy duty aluminum foil wrap and common toothpicks!

Practice a bit first. Take a coin with lots of detail and lay it on a table. Cut a generous square of square foil to cover the coin, trying to get a relatively smooth piece without a lot of wrinkles. Most foil has a dull and also a shiny side. To get away from distracting reflections in the finished bas-relief, place the shiny side down against the coin.

Bridging your fingers across the coin, hold the foil taut but not drum head tight. With your fore finger rub the foil over the coin to establish position and to start the pattern. Now take the large end of a common toothpick (not the sharpened fancy kind) and using the approximate center of the coin as a starting point work around the coin with firm outward strokes. This will tend to further establish pattern and move any surplus slack foil to rim of the coin. Run forefinger over coin and especially around the rim.

Now use the small end of the toothpick, and let's hope you have picked one that is fairly fine but not sharp. Hold it well upright and scrub all over the coin in every which direction. Over dates and mottos try to outline the letters and go into spaces of "E's", "U's" etc. that are open. You can spot missed places with a glass... but don't lift your cotton pickin' coin holding fingers or the coin might shift.

Go over the whole coin finally with even diagonal strokes and, presto!, we have a perfect bas-relief of our coin to mail. It shows all the beauty of the original plus, alas, every nick, scratch, or dent. The bas-relief is so faithful, in fact, that it is possible to grade a coin from it.

By placing a coin between a folded piece of foil and rubbing between the fingers to first establish pattern and position, it is possible to do both sides of a coin, one after the other.

Some may like to hold the coin in a plastic holder and wrap the foil around it to retain it in place. Experiment a bit. Ideally, the foil should be retained a la embroidery hoop so it won't shift, yet not so tight that it bridges tautly from rim to rim of the coin.

The writer had hoped to have time to experiment with fixing these bas-reliefs more permanently by filling the reverse with buttered on plaster of paris or other poured material. Perhaps, some of the many bright readers of Coin World will come up with variations or improvements of this method and share their findings with other coin hobbyists.

The Sarasota, Florida, Coin Club has a periodic column of its own in the Sarasota News.

Within the column are paragraphs on club discussion topics, including recently some remarks showing concern over the 1960 small date "craze".

Another Error Found

Lightning is not supposed to strike twice in the same area, but the second 1942 over 41 dime found in circulation in the southeastern states has been reported this week.

It was found by Leslie P. Main, of Walkersville, Maryland, member of the Intra-County Numismatic Society of Libertytown, Md.

Club Starts Coin Project

Originated by the Excelsior Springs, Missouri, Coin Club, an idea for a commemorative coin in honor of the 80th anniversary of the incorporation of Excelsior Springs in 1961 has been adopted by the Chamber of Commerce of that city.

Whether the project will take the form of a medal or a "wooden nickel" variety has not yet been decided.

The committee to work out the project included Ted Boone, vice president of the coin club which was organized only last May. Its other officers include Roy Smith, president, and Fances E. Parks, secretary-treasurer.

The Romance of MONEY

By Ted Hammer

A gent in Kansas City wrote that he'd "heard" that a woman in Wichita "makes 1914-D cents and other rarities. I'll take one of each—a 1909-S VDB cent, 1856 flying eagle cent and any others if the price is right.... If she wants to make me a wholesale price I might handle the products locally."

To the beginner, that jargon may not have made too much sense. But our correspondent had picked up a hint that a Wichita woman, perhaps handy with an engraving tool, was able to "create" phony rare coins.

Passing up the illegal or downright criminal aspects for the moment, what on earth would anyone want with a phony rare date? The 1914-D (Denver mint) cent, offered at $2 or $3 just a few years ago, now brings up to $15 to $20 in only fair to good condition, when bought from a dealer. The 1909 San Francisco Mint cent, bearing the mintmark S, is less scarce but lists at $6 or $7 in dealers' catalogues. When the 1909-S cent has the initials VDB on the bottom of the tails side, it's even more scarce.

We replied to the Kansas City writer — since he included a stamped-addressed envelope:

"We do not know about the woman counterfeiter—in fact, your information is the first we had on the subject. If we had this information, we would not forward it, but would notify police and coin collectors.

"Most of the altered date coins we have seen would not fool a beginning collector, let alone one who has been at the hobby a few years. Anyone buying a coin for $15—more or less—should examine the coin carefully. Most collectors use magnifying glasses in examining prospective purchases.

"So where would you sell a phony coin? To some child who saved for months in order to buy a coin to fill that gaping opening in his Lincoln cent album? To some man or woman who took up coin collecting just a few months ago and doesn't even suspect phonies exist?"

Schulman Reports

Gibbs Collection Valued At Million By Schulman

One of our readers wanted to know the value of the Howard Gibbs collection of primitive monies and I must admit that it is difficult to grasp the importance, size, and value. To gather it again at least a million dollars would be needed, if at all possible to obtain it.

Hans Schulman

The travel to the far away places, the difficulty to convince the natives to part with these valuable objects would cost much more today than when Gibbs tried at a time that Africa and Oceania were not at all aware of the value of their own objects and also had little contact with the outside world. Maybe more than a million dollars even.....!!!

This is the moment that Harold Nunn has been waiting for. Nobody paid any attention to his pretty and well arranged odd money collection which although quite small compared to Gibbs', will be nice to see. I hope Harold will sell his collection before the many duplicates of the Gibbs' collection will saturate the market and for a while will make it difficult for him to sell his nicely arranged and beautifully made up exhibit.

Leonard Toller is improving in a hospital in Amsterdam.

Prices of doubloons and their divisions were the highest ever in London in October and we can state this now categorically since we have received a price list. Same applies to the Lucerne sale but early Spanish gold of the medieval period did not yet reach the height of the other series.

Our good friend Tuttle from Cincinnati visited Andorra to see if Coin World was right and he enjoyed the beauty and hospitality of this tiny country. Looking for Andorra coins he realized that only in New York he will be able to satisfy his wishes in the near future.

Several collectors of medals and decorations passed through New York recently and leaving with us requests for many series. The most important is the German imperial decorations which have become scarce in Europe. We wonder if in the collections Dr. Goodwin obtained recently we can find many German duplicates.

Our good friend, George Seymour, who is connected with Socony Mobil, is leaving us for a long stay in Venezuela. All of us interested in medals and decorations will miss him and we wish him and his nice family "God-speed".

Sidney Frey back from Europe was disappointed in not meeting with King Umberto of Italy with whom he had a "swapping" date of medals.....Maybe if Sidney would have swapped his magnificent recordings (he is the president of Audio Fidelity records) with records of the collection of the young princess, he would have been more successful.

While in Washington I visited the magnificent numismatic library of Frank and Frances Katen. It was a pleasure of seeing these old friends happy and gay in their pretty home on the Maryland border. If you need any nuismatic books you cannot find anywhere, write to Frank. He may have them, Douglas Liddell of Spink & Son arriving next week in New York and Geoffrey Hearn due one day later. Geoffrey visited us in the summer. If he goes on commuting, he could almost become an American.

Good old "Foxie" Steinberg got new offices in Miami and don't you all be so jealous. He is "numismaticing" (I had to invent a new word because of "Foxie") beside a swimming pool, his offices being part of a motel setup. Now where can you buy coins, swim, have fun and.....still get a square deal because "Foxie" is not foxy.

Batesville Site Of Meet

Batesville, Arkansas, was host recently to the fall quarterly meeting of the Arkansas State Numismatic Society, for the first time in the 12-year history of the organization.

Sponsoring group was the White River Valley Coin and Stamp Club, whose president, Carl Johnston, served as co-chairman of the session. Working with him was Lowell Miller.

Among those attending were Matt H. Rothert, Camden, and S. W. Freeman, Newport, vice president and advertising manager, respectively, of the American Numismatic Association, both members of the Arkansas state group.

Non-competitive exhibits at the meeting covered communion tokens, U.S. gold, foreign crowns and thalers, early U.S. proof sets, and medalic art. Bourse tables were occupied by 12 dealers, and an auction was held.

The Arkansas Numismatic Society holds quarterly meetings in different sections of the state, with one of them being the annual convention held in Little Rock, the home of its headquarters and the officers.

Its 1961 spring session is scheduled for Camden, on February 5, it was announced by President W. M. Hackett.

Something New! PLASTIC ENVELOPES

Clear polyethylene, pliable and guaranteed not to crack or dry out. These long flap envelopes give maximum protection against chemical action which causes tarnish, spotting, etc. Coins can be displayed without exposure. Made to hold the large size Silver Dollar and most Crowns, but will still fit easily into a 2x2 envelope.

We are now using these for all our Uncirculated and Proof, as well as choice coins. Something collectors and dealers have been needing for years.

Schulman . . .

He is going to be in charge of the Florida convention in January and I am sure it will be a lot of "F.U.N." (Florida United Numismatists)

Max Kaplan is still a bit depressed since his horrible experience after Washington when he was robbed, but keep smiling, Max. The whole fraternity of numismatists is in back of you and they would love to help you where ever they can.

A new photographer of coins has entered the field, Jerry Cohen, partner of Abner Kreisberg has succeeded in taking pictures of U.S. coins as clear and perfect as the best and we congratulate him. How he finds time for it, nobody knows, except that we believe that his wife, Sylvia, must be helping him where ever she can.

Jerry and Abner will both be east at the Waldorf from February 10, 1961, on. A few coins of the ancient world are to be found in an antiquity sale at the Waldorf December 3 sponsored by Jerome Eisenberg's Royal Athena Galleries and we wish him luck. He did a good job of cataloguing these difficult objects.

Latest numismatic joke..... a lady comes to a numismatist and asks if she could buy a coin with a "genuine" hole.....

Two Bits Really Was

One-eighth of the Spanish dollar was one "real" and worth 12½ cents, called a "bit". Hence two were worth 25c and called "two bits", and a quarter is still called that in some parts of the United States.

Current Date Variations Cause Older Coin Checks

I found a 1950-D Lincoln cent with a very small zero in the date. It is in perfect condition. The 0 in 1950 is like the small 0 in the 1960-P. Please let me know if you have any information on this coin.

Bernice Gregrich, Milwaukee, Wisconsin.

ANSWER: You are helping to provide evidence toward proving a theory, namely, that the kind of die changes that produced varieties in 1960 have been going on for a long time, but without notice. Nobody paid attention or examined their coins that closely. Somebody did, in 1960, and created publicity which piled up until even the non-collectors got interested.

The more coins minted in a given year, the more likely that dies will be worn out and replaced with possible or even probable resulting minute changes. This presumably applies both to "working dies" and the master dies which likely have to be recut or remade after too many working dies have been made.

Incidentally, on close examination, a small date 1960-D cent handy in the office seems to have a larger 0 than a large date does. The small date is a "thick" variety. We will have to wait a while until the variety business settles down or gets more specific, for a better reply.

The comment on Salvatore Bracco's letter in last week's issue was omitted because of space. He had found a walking liberty half with a date that looks like 1915, and several other oddities.

COMMENT: The 1915 half could be a 1918 with part of the 8 worn off, as a guess from this distance; explanations for some of the others could be partially filled dies or wear as the case may be. We would like to see that 1915 half dollar!

"I found in circulation a perfectly struck 1957-D Lincoln cent, but only the same size as a dime and about one-half as thick as a dime. Date, wheat lines, and face features are clear. Can you tell me anything about it? Any value?"

Robert G. Hale, Houston 32, Texas.

ANSWER: A cent dipped in acid would give the effect you describe and these turn up from time to time. Whether yours is from that cause can't be told at this distance. If that "diagnosis" is correct, its value is what you can get for it. We have seen them priced at 10c as simple curiosities.

"I found a 1956-D cent in silver. Any information on it and what is its value?"

Roy West, Gulfport, Mississippi.

ANSWER: See story pages 1 and 26 of October 6 issue of Coin World. Cents or other denominations in the wrong metal do turn up. Their value, like that of any coin, freak or normal, depends on who wants it and how badly.

We suggest you check ads to see if any such are advertised, which would tell you what dealers or collectors hope to get for them. Dealers will buy them at somewhat less. There are dealers in Jackson and Biloxi in your state, who probably can give you more direct advice, or see reply to Mrs. Hames, below.

"I have a 1944-D Lincoln cent, double strike with two complete 'Trusts'. Does it have any value?"

Mrs. Ruth Hames, Battle Creek, Michigan.

ANSWER: Double struck coins have some value to collectors of Mint Errors, how much value depending on the kind of strike and the condition of the coin. We suggest you write to Raymond J. Larson, Secretary, Collectors of Numismatic Errors, 417 Hillcrest Dr., Plattsmouth, Nebraska, for better advice.

We also suggest that it will probably not be worth a small fortune, possibly somewhere between 50 cents and a couple of dollars, although the now famous 1955-P Lincoln double motto and

That is largely because of considerable publicity attached to the coin which helped to create a demand on the part of collectors of "normal" coins. That demand pushed the price up, since it was and is presumably larger than the supply of the coins.

CIRCLE STAMP & COIN SHOP

38 North Pennsylvania St. Indianapolis 4, Indiana

"I have a 1959 Jefferson nickel which appears to have chin whiskers on Jefferson's face? Is this a variety? Picture enclosed."

Edward W. Cockey, Baltimore 12, Maryland.

ANSWER: The unshaven appearance of Jefferson's chin seems to have been caused by an imperfect die. Most of the coin dies break down or wear out sooner or later, and the coins will be affected thereby. Normally, coins with die breaks or other imperfections are not considered "varieties", unless the imperfections are spectacular in one way or another. See reply to Mrs. Hames, above.

"I have a 1959-D Lincoln with no dot after 'Unum' in the motto. Is this significant? My coin is uncirculated."

Joe J. Davich, Santa Monica, California.

ANSWER: Chances are that the missing dot was caused by a filled die which happens fairly frequently, the best known example being the 3-legged Buffalo nickel. Other answers in this column also apply to your question. We would say offhand that it is not a "spectacular" error.

"Going over $25 worth of new 1960-D Lincolns recently, I found seven with double strike 'D'. Has anyone else found this? At least one of mine has a recut date, also."

Jerry Aronson, Detroit 35, Mich. ANSWER: Double struck mint marks turn up at intervals for many different dates, and are a definite "Mint Error". The mint mark is stamped on the coin separately from the rest of the design, which is responsible for various positions of the mint mark, and double strikes are neither common nor excessively rare. See our answer to Mrs. Ruth Hames above. Someone else who has found one may see this and write in. See also some adv. in Nov. 24 issue of Coin World.

"Have new 1960-D small date cents, with high and low 'D' and variations of them. Is the high D scarce?"

Arthur J. Potosnak, Bethlehem, Pa.

ANSWER: Time alone will tell. However, mint marks which vary a great deal from normal position will always have some added value, even though usually slight, and it can happen easily. See reply to Mr. Aronson.

Banquet Held In Wisconsin

William Shank, Merrill, Wisconsin, was awarded first place for displays at the recent fifth annual banquet of the Wisconsin Valley Coin Club, held at the First Methodist Church.

Some 120 persons attended, representing Wausau, Merrill, Iola, Wisconsin Rapids, Blenker and Port Edwards. Conrad Schepp, Wausau, president of the organization, presided at the program. Special guests were the Rev. Justus Olson, the church pastor, and Mrs. Olson.

Coins Aid In Dating, Harvard Group Finds

Coins figured prominently in an accurate archaeological dating system at the excavations at Shechem, Israel's first capital, according to an announcement from Harvard University.

The Harvard release said that it has been established that the Biblical Abimelech reigned briefly about 1150 B. C.

A team of archaeologists — including 27 American teachers and graduate students, and Australian and four Jordanians — believe they have assembled an accurate dating scheme covering the period between the time of Alexander the Great and some 50 years after the death of Christ.

This has been assembled from coins, pottery fragments, jewelry and other objects.

This dating system, it is believed, will allow archaeologists to fix in time other material recovered from this period of history.

Archaeological work at Shechem will resume in 1962, according to Harvard officials.

Abimelech touched off a revolution in the ancient city when he tried to establish himself as Israel's first king. The scene is described in the Book of Judges, ix, 45, in these words:

"And Abimelech fought against the city all that day; and he took the city, and slew the people that were therein, and beat down the city, and sowed it with salt."

A team of American scholars working in the largest American archaeological project in the Holy Land have established the date of the story. It is a part of the 4,000 year record of the city's life that is buried in a twenty-five-acre mound near the present-day village of Balatah, Jordan.

The purpose of the expedition, which has just returned from a summer's work at Shechem, is that same as that of other archaeological projects in the Holy Land — to relate Biblical history to known events in ancient history.

The excavation at the ancient city was under the direction of Prof. G. Ernest Wright of the Harvard Divinity School, Prof. Lawrence E. Toombs of Drew University in Madison, N. J., and Prof. Edward F. Campbell of McCormick Theological Seminary in Chicago.

Drew, McCormick and the American Schools of Oriental Research sponsored the expedition. Others supporting the project include the Bollingen Foundation in New York, the Semite Museum at Harvard, the Southern Baptist Theological Seminary in Louisville, Ky., and Concordia College in River Forest, Ill.

Shechem flourished during ancient Egyptian and Biblical times.

The city was a stronghold of an empire ruled from Egypt when Abraham and Jacob visited it during their travels through the land. During this period, Shech-

Miltander Deluged In Delaware Coin Requests

Coin World's Swedish columnist, Axel Miltander, has been forced into non-profit coin dealing as a result of America's enthusiastic response to his mention of the Delaware commemorative coin in a recent Coin World column.

He has had so many questions that he has purchased a limited number of the Delaware commemorative two kronors, struck on the 300th anniversary of the Swedish settlement in Delaware (1638-1938).

The Swedish columnist will dispatch these medals for $2.50 each, postpaid, to his readers as long as the coins, BU to AU, last. His address is Axel Miltander, Bevaringsgatan, 11, Gothenburg N, Sweden.

"It is better for me to do this than to write all those who have inquired about the coins," said Miltander. "It will give me double work to write, so I just bought some of the coins."

Columnist Miltander continues:

I have got a letter from a numismatist in Chicago. He writes: What do you think about the American market right now? I should be glad to hear an opinion from an outsider. Here people are collecting recent coins in rolls and it seems me that "small dies" and "large dies" are going to kill the real numismatic interest.

Well, Mr. X., I will give you my opinion, saying:

To collect coins or stamps or match labels or anything else is a hobby. You are a hobbyist just because you find it interesting. If you collect old coins from different parts of the world in order to learn about the history of the

Medal Little Late

Henry Bogan has received a medal from Uncle Sam. It took some time, but the Franklin, Kentucky, postmaster and one-time marine gunnery sergeant is glad he got it.

Henry Bogan recently received his medal—42 years to the day, after he was wounded by a German sniper near the close of World War I.

countries, then you have a hobby which gives you knowledge.

If you collect "large and small dies"—well, then you perhaps get your knowledge through books. Or perhaps you are not interested in history.

I think all collectors try to find their own ways. And all ways are right ways. Recently I read an advertisement in an international swap bulletin. A person advertised, seeking for sand from different parts of the world. A bad investment, indeed, but it is a hobby, not true? Rolls or pot rolls—it means nothing if you feel that your hobby gives you what you are seeking for!

Do you know that one of the most expensive Swedish coins is a Wasa-riksdaler from 1534. For 60 years ago it was listed at $30. And now: $2,000!

Other expensive coins are from 1862 in BU-condition. The 50 ore is valued at $100, 25 ore for $140; 10 ore for $120; two riksdaler for $160 and one riksdaler for $140.

Our latest commemorative silver coin is from 1959 and has a denomination of five crowns (Dollar size). It was minted in 500,000 copies.

Finland minted a commemorative coin last springtime in 1,000 markka. Weight 14 grammes, contents: 87.5 per cent silver. Portrait: Politician Snellman.

Have you heard the story about the Swedish two ore coin from 1916, minted in iron instead of bronze. This error is valued at $160. Counterfeits exist: iron coins from 1946 are "engraved" so the number four looks like number one in 1916.

Once a time I meet a stamp-collector, who collected "Coins on stamps." Why do we not have any topical coin societies—or do you have in U.S.A.? Look for instance on the new Norwegian coins, showing elks, birds, dogs, horses, squirrels. Other topicals could be kings, ladies on coins, ships, etc.

Since 1888 Denmark has minted 12 silver commemorative coins. All of them are of denomination two crowns except for the latest one, minted that year. It has a value of five crowns. Remember that many of the Scandinavian commemorative coins were sold for double face to help any fund to get money.

em's inhabitants first built a massive temple-fortress, a thirty-five-foot high main wall around the city and two great city gates.

In the thirteenth century B. C., Israelites under Joshua conquered the land after it had been in Egyptian hands for 400 years.

After the death of King Solomon, all Israel assembled at Shechem to make Solomon's son Rehoboam king. But tribes of Israel revolted and formed the Northern Kingdom of Israel with Shechem as its first capital. Later the Samaritans attempted to make Shechem the rival of Jerusalem.

The temple-fortress in Shechem destroyed by Abimelech was first uncovered by a German expedition in 1926. The building was about 70 by 85 feet, with walls that were 17 feet thick. Following the German discovery of the building, its purpose and date became controversial. But the leaders of the new expedition believe that the temple is the site destroyed by Abimelech and the time has now been pinpointed at about 1150 B. C.

The calculation was made on the basis of pottery fragments found in the ruins. Many fragments of typical twelfth century B. C. Hebrew pottery were found, but not a trace of Philistine pottery (which is found at other ancient sites in Israel) of the period between 1150 and 1000 B. C. when the Philistines conquered much of the Holy Land.

The expedition also discovered that three buildings mentioned in the biblical account—the "house of Baal-berith," the "house of Millo" and the "tower of Sechem" —are the same. All three names refer to the great temple-fortress. During the revolt against Abimelech, he was struck by a stone. But he destroyed the city and set fire to the temple-fortress before he died.

The expedition this summer picked a spot previously untouched by archaeological investigations and began to peel back layers of earth containing the remains of ancient houses built successively on the same site.

Poor To Very Fine

Collector Invades Bank; Uses President's Office

Last week, I talked a lot about how my son, Jimmy, and I filled the holes in our Whitman folders. We spent a lot of time going through bank rolls and the cash registers of a movie house, a "dime" store, and so on, when we lived in Alliance, Ohio.

Two evenings a week I sat up in the manager's office of the Mount Union Theatre, going over every coin in the place, and there were plenty. The same applies to a filling station and the "dime store". And did we ever cash in! All at face

James Johnson value. About the only scarce coin I do not recall finding was a 1916-D dime, and that we bought from a college student for $2.50, the "going" price at that time.

One interesting experience I had deserves mention, I think. In North Adams, Massachusetts, I kept an account in a bank which had very friendly personnel. When "the ghost walked" every Friday, I would go down to the bank at noon and cash my check in rolls.

I asked the cashier if he had a place where I could look over the rolls. He showed me into the president's office. Seems the president went out to lunch every day about that time. So, for some months, people walking by on the street could look in the window, or people doing business in the bank could look through the open door, and see me sitting in the bank president's chair at his desk, looking at money. Wonder what they thought!

After picking out what I wanted to keep, I would turn the remaining rolls back in as my weekly deposit.

A teller at the same bank would let me know whenever new coins came in, and I would buy a few to improve the collection or to put away for future trading purposes. Each Christmas, the bank ordered some new coins for people to give as presents to their children, apparently a local custom, as I have not seen it elsewhere.

These coins were ordered from a New York City bank, rather than a Federal Reserve bank, and were not always of the current year. One batch of new or uncirculated nickels turned out to be 1949 Philadelphia Mint, evidently from storage in the New York bank. This was about 1954, so I bought all there were, figuring the opportunity to get five-year-old uncirculated rolls at face was too good to lose.

Going back to Alliance for a few paragraphs, the only 1937-D 3-legged Buffalo nickels we ever found turned up in that area. I was in a hardware store one day, standing near the cash register, and spotted a darkish looking buffalo. I asked the clerk for it, and it turned out to be THE one. Shortly afterwards, I was looking through a roll of nickels from the bank, and there was another.

While I was doing most of the looking, those days, Jimmy was studying, and what he learned about coins was a good deal. In fact, he learned enough so that he beat all the adult members of the Canton Coin Club in a numismatic quiz, including at least one professional dealer.

In consequence, he was elected vice president of the club (at the age of 13, no less), an honor we both prized. That is one reason I like to encourage, in any way

Heraldic Art's St. Lawrence Seaway's commemorative medallion.

Wooden Nickels Added To Commemorate New Seaway

Two wooden nickels commemorating the opening of the St. Lawrence Seaway and the visit to Canada by Queen Elizabeth are now available to collectors, according to the management of Jack's Stamp Farm, Route 6, Woodstock, Ontario, Canada.

The wooden nickels are obtainable wholesale according to their sole distributor.

Dated 1959, the nickels commemorate the St. Lawrence Seaway opening, "the gateway to the world" and the royal visit of Queen Elizabeth and Prince Philip.

They are produced by the steel die process of hardwood and clear lacquer and measure one inch by one-fourth inch in thickness.

Commemorative medal collectors may purchase the Heraldic Art medallion sculptured commemorative medallion III of the St. Lawrence Seaway.

This medal of sterling silver was struck in a 5,900-issue. It sells for $3.25 singly or $6 per pair, and can be ordered from Heraldic Art, Box 5891, Cleveland 1, Ohio.

On June 26th, 1959, the official opening of the St. Lawrence Seaway by Queen Elizabeth II, queen of Canada, and President Eisenhower of the United States took place at the St. Lambert lock, most easterly of the seven locks of Montreal to Lake Ontario section of the Seaway. Five locks were built by Canada and two locks were built by the United States.

In addition to the locks for Seaway traffic of ocean going and lake vessels, near the former rapids was built the long Sault dam creating a man-made lake 30 miles long, part of which made possible by joint participation of New York State and the Province of Ontario a hydro development of 2,200,000 horse power divided about equally and there are plans for further expansion.

From Lake Ontario to Lake Erie the Welland Canal, comprising a further eight locks, is part of the Seaway enabling salt water traffic to reach Detroit—north of Detroit the United States is now deepening the canal to 27 feet which in about two years will allow larger vessels to go straight through to Chicago, Port Arthur and Fort William near the very heart of the North American continent.

The lock at Sault Ste. Marie makes a total of 16 locks in the entire Seaway with a total drop of 580 feet.

Thus, ocean going vessels can come about 2,200 miles from the Atlantic ocean into the interior enabling 80 per cent of the world's salt water fleet to bring imports from all the world and take out vast quantities of manufactured goods, some vessels carrying over one million bushels of grain from the prairies, to all points on the globe.

Writer Theorizes 1960 Date Furor May Soon Be Forgotten

By James G. Johnson

A lot has been said and written about the small date varieties of Lincoln cents, and the publicity is probably responsible for the addition of a good many new collectors to the ranks.

Now, some sharp-eyed or magnifier-using people are making splashes with small-motto dimes and large and small date nickels.

I have no quarrel with them. In fact, one of my favorite pursuits is examining large cents to identify the great many varieties that Newcomb describes. I think I have even found a couple that he didn't.

There are variety collectors. There are "specialists" in a given series who stress the number of varieties they can locate. (Incidentally, someone defined a specialist as a person who knows more and more about less and less—but let's not go into that).

I have nothing against variety collectors or collectors who look for varieties on the side, as I do with my large cents. There is a definite place for them in numismatics, and what else can you call the "Collectors of Numismatic Errors" who have a society to themselves, but variety collectors?

It has taken me quite a space to reach my point, which is this: some varieties last, some have books written about them. Some don't. How many collectors know that there is a distinct variety of the 1934 Philadelphia mint Washington quarter.

Its existence was one of the first things I learned as a beginning collector some years ago, when C. D. Clark of Akron, Ohio, who taught me a lot, described it to me as a "light motto" variety. I have since heard it called "type of 1932", which is the kind of description used for large cents and seems to fill the bill.

Once in a while I have seen this light motto quarter listed in auction catalogues, but very rarely, although I might have missed some listings since I don't habitually look for it. And not too long ago it was touched on, briefly, in some coin paper or other, with a discussion of its comparative rarity in Uncirculated condition.

E. PARSONS

Tama Building
Burlington, Iowa

But a year or two ago, when I happened to meet R. S. Yeoman, editor of the well-known "Red book", and asked him about it, he said he had never heard of it. So, what price varieties?

Here is another example. I picked up a fairly old coin check list, published maybe 50 years ago or so. The 1866 Shield nickel was listed in two varieties, "small date, large motto", and "large date, small motto".

At a recent Colorado convention I asked quite a few collectors if they had ever heard of it, and only one, a real "old timer", had a vague recollection. What price varieties?

As for misplaced mintmarks, reference the high and low "D" now being chased up and down the Lincoln cents of 1960, I learned about them, early. When I wrote Lee Hewett about a "tilted" D on a 134 cent, he said that mint marks could be found anywhere on the coin and positions were of little significance. I believed him then, and I believe him now. But I certainly have no objection if anybody wants to collect displaced mintmarks. However, I might ask them first if they know what is the "correct" position?

Not long ago when I was "playing" at being a coin dealer, I sorted out a batch of Mercury dimes. Among them were 20 or 30 1924-S pieces in various conditions. Looking them over for grading, which I do with a high-powered microscope, I quickly spotted three or four different positions of the "S", high, low, and sideways, touching the leaf, and running away from it.

I picked out what I "thought" was the normal position, and then added 10c each to the prices of the others. I don't know whether I sold any or not.

W. B. Doughty wrote a series of articles for the Numismatic Scrapbook on the topic of mint mark positions of Lincoln cents, and listed the varieties he had found, all the way from 1909 on up. It ran through several issues in 1956-57, with well over 1,000 listed.

So, I am wondering if, ten years from now, or even five, will anybody remember that there was a large and small date 1960 Lincoln cent or Jefferson nickel. Outside of the members of the society of "Collectors of Numismatic Errors", the specialists, that is.

I am not an error or variety specialist or even collector. But a month or so ago, I put together a set of varieties of 1955 and 1960 Lincoln cents and won a blue ribbon with it at the Colorado-Wyoming Numismatic Association convention in the "mint error" classification. Who am I to quarrel with those who do want to collect them?

I may not think too highly of the small and large date 1960 coins, but whenever I spot one in my change I save it! If it is worth a small fortune 20 years or so from now when I retire, I will have it. If it is worth only face value, I can still spend it. Since saving money is a virtue, why shouldn't the money saved have some numismatic value, possible or probable?

We get many letters at Coin World asking about varieties of one sort or another, and I try to answer them seriously and to the best of my knowledge and belief. There is room in numismatics for variety-collectors as there is for the collectors of anything, and no one has a right to scoff, be it rolls or rolled cents!

Detroit Firm Incorporates

Merger of two well known Detroit area coin dealers into a corporation was announced this week jointly by Charles Smith, president of the new firm, and William J. Bono, who is secretary-treasurer.

The new firm name will be the Auburn Stamp and Coin Store, Inc. It is located at 16023 E. Nine Mile Road in Detroit.

A complete line of coins, stamps, numismatic and philatelic supplies are offered by the Auburn firm. Both men extend an invitation to their friends of the area to pay a visit to the newly-incorporated firm.

Both Smith and Bono have been collectors for the past 10 years, and dealers for half of that time. Smith operated his business at the Auburn address, Bono as a mail order operation.

Club Leader Robbed In Steubenville, Ohio

Ray E. Campbell, Steubenville, Ohio, president of the Ohio Valley Coin Association, was the recent victim of a robbery which included his coin collection as well as cash.

"As president of the association, my name has appeared recently both in local newspapers and in numismatic publications. I feel that this is probably what led to the theft", Campbell said.

While the value of the collection was under $1,000, it was not insured. In a letter to Coin World, Campbell stated:

"Believe me, from now on I shall preach coin insurance to my club at every opportunity. It is cheap, and in cases like mine it would certainly ease the blow".

In the robbery, the thief struck between 5:30 p.m. and 9:55 p.m. during an interval in which Campbell was out of his home. Police reported that the house was entered through a coal cellar window. The intruder then forced a door to the kitchen. While he was in the house, he piled chairs against the front door, presumably to avoid surprise if the owner returned.

Carmen W. Raimondo, Indiana, Pennsylvania, was robbed on November 13 of collection of coins and currency valued at close to $4,000, according to a report to Coin World from Police Chief Harry H. Owens of Indiana.

The thief or thieves entered the house sometime between 3 and 10 p.m., by forcing a cellar window. A small black wall safe containing the material was taken from a closet on the second floor. The loss included:

Uncirculated $1 bills, 1935 F series, serial numbers R64486917 to R64487092 inclusive, 75 bills in all; two $20 gold pieces, 1850 and 1892-S; two $10 gold, 1883 and 1908; 12 $5 gold from 1880 to 1915; six quarter eagles, including 1944-D and from 1907 to 1925-D.

Also 1500 Liberty nickels, 20 rolls of 1955 half dollars in BU, 25 small date proof sets, about 80 other proof sets of various dates, roll of uncirculated Carver half dollars, five rolls 1955-D nickels uncirculated; 150 miscellaneous 1935 F series $1 bills uncirculated, complete Indian cent set from 1857, books of currency including large bills, and a plastic case with gold coins from $20 down.

Any dealer or collector believing he has evidence on any of this material is asked to notify the Indiana police department at Hopkins 3-0241.

James D. Singer's Coin and Stamp Company, Racine, Wisconsin, was burglarized over the week end of November 13. Police discovered the robbery and called Singer at 5 o'clock Monday morning.

Almost all the stock owned by Singer was taken, with a retail value of more than $2,000. Most of the material was in small denominations.

Entrance was gained by "jimmying" the front door. Racine police thought it was a local gang as a number of other business places had been broken into by the same method during the previous few weeks.

Theft of a small collection of old coins from Frank L. Ferree, Kansas City, Kansas, has been admitted by a 15-year old boy, according to a police report.

For a new twist, Birmingham, Alabama, police have found a small coin collection but don't know who lost it. In the possession of an arrested man was a tube containing Indian head cents, German pennings, and other odds and ends. Coin World readers down south who have lost any such items can contact the Birmingham police.

Sorrell "Sandy" Sanders, of the Perfection Jewelers and Coins, Inc., Miami, Florida, which was burglarized last September, has asked Coin World to publish some of the items lost.

He reported that the thieves broke through the roof of his place of business. His loss was well over $2,000. He also reports that he was insured, but that his insurance has been cancelled.

He has notified some dealers tice. The list includes:

Big Collection In Small Town

One of the smallest cities in the United States, Mott, North Dakota, is the home of one of the largest numismatic collections in the country according to a report to Coin World.

The exact size of neither is known, but 1200 population would not be far off for Mott, and fairly complete would be a good description for the collection, owned by F. W. Mees, retired implement dealer.

Mees started collecting years ago, on a part-time basis, but after retiring from business he made his collection a full-time affair. He devotes all his attention to acquiring the few items he does not have, and is willing to travel to get them.

F. W. Mees, of Mott, North Dakota, has framed his collection of gold pieces in maple with arrowheads in the corner. In the center he has placed a 1895-P silver dollar, one of his prize possessions, so that it may be viewed from both sides.

Two years ago, for example, he fled to Cheyenne, Wyoming, just to get a proof 1895 dollar, of which only 880 are supposed to have been made, according to Mint records. A coin he is still looking for, however, is the 1916 liberty standing quarter.

That type of coin is by no means all that Mees collects. He has both United States and foreign gold, and what is considered an excellent collection of currency, including gold certificates and one of the "Lazy 2" bills. His currency comprises both foreign and United States.

Mees takes no chances on burglars. He keeps his collection in two different banks, in Bismarck and in Fargo, North Dakota, but takes part of it out occasionally for display purposes. He is a member of the Dickinson, North Dakota, Coin Club.

Burglars took an 1860 silver dollar, buffalo nickels and cents along with a watch from the Battle Creek, Michigan, apartment of Martin Frcak, according to a report by police.

Old gold coins valued at about $2,000 were stolen from J. L. Hill, 83, of Duffield, Virginia, on Wednesday, November 16, after he had been beaten and tied up with wire. He was not found until Thursday, some 14 hours after the attack.

Hill owns a small store on highway 23, with his living quarters in the back. He said three young men entered and asked for cigarettes. When he reached to get them, he was hit over the head. The men then forced him to go to the living quarters where his safe was.

When an unidentified passerby found him and called the sheriff, Hill was in a semi-conscious condition. He was taken to a Kingsport, Tennessee, hospital where he was treated for two gashes on his head and badly swollen and discolored hands and feet from the wire.

Santa Ana Has New Shop

Andrew Verbance, formerly of Santa Monica, California, has moved to Santa Ana and opened a new coin store, under the name of Western Coin & Supplies, Incorporated.

Long time collector and member of the American Numismatic Association, Verbance is well known in the area as a member of several of the southern California coin clubs.

His store is located at 202½ West Third Street. He will specialize in coins and currency, and will carry a strong line of accessories for the collector. An appraisal service will also be available.

Verbance is the owner of a 1923 Mercury dime with a Denver mint mark, of which none were coined at that mint, so far as official records are concerned. He has brought about some public controversy in trying to get authenticated the origin of that dime, of which several examples are thought to exist.

Horses Make Coins

Up until 1816 all mint operations in the United States were done by hand or horse power.

Coin World Important To Collector In Minnesota

Kenny Dahms, operator of Kenny's Grill at Winnebago, Minnesota, who began collecting coins in 1957 when he cashed in $250 in cents he had been saving to finance a California trip, was featured in a recent news story which appeared in the Mankato, Minnesota, Free Press.

He has about a thousand different coins today in completed collections and another 9,000 unclassified coins.

He has complete collections of Indian and Lincoln cents, buffalo and Jefferson nickels, Roosevelt and Mercury dimes complete with the overdate and Washington quarters.

Among the more unique coins of the collection is a 1942 dime with 1942 stamped over 1941 and worth about $65; a three-legged buffalo on a nickel worth about $15, and the most valuable coin he has, an 1803 stamped over 1802 on a $5 gold piece. It is worth an estimated $115.

He also has a 1909-S VDB cent which is the cornerstone to one of his cent collections. He found it in $10 worth of cents he bought from a gumball machine man.

He keeps most of his valuable coins in the bank.

In addition to the regular coins Dahms collects proof sets.

Like fellow numismatists, Dahms looks for scarce and key coins through a variety of means. He subscribes to the newspaper, "Coin World," which advertises for about 33,000 collectors; travels to coin collectors' conventions, including the Iowa State convention in Davenport this year and checks with banks and other dealers in the area.

Coin collecting is a jealous mistress. Dahms finds no time for other hobbies. "I don't spend as much time on coins as I would like to," he said.

He has even branched out a little, as a sign in the Kenny's Grill window testifies. It advertises "coin supplies" for sale inside which he handles.

Dahms said he began selling supplies several weeks ago to find out "how many coin collectors there are around. A lot came in to get them."

His ultimate ambition is to become owner of a $4 gold piece, or "Stella."

Whether or not he does latch onto a "Stella" doesn't really matter though. It's the enjoyment he's getting out of looking for it and other additions to the collection.

Its like Kenny Dahms says— "This is the only hobby that satisfies."

Coin World "got into the act" in a recent pictorial feature of the Mankato, Minnesota, Free Press. It shared honors with Kenny Dahms, of Winnebago, described as a collector who is happy —and busy in his unending search for coins to add to his growing collection. He was shown with his collection and Coin World in the background.

Goddard New Texas Prexy

Headed by James Goddard as president, new officers were elected in November by the "Heart O' Texas" Coin Club of Waco. The elections were held at that time to keep the December meeting open for their Christmas party and fun night.

Other officers chosen for 1961 included L. L. Edmonds, vice president; B. O. Miller, secretary-treasurer, and Kalvart K. Tidwell, publicity chairman and corresponding secretary.

The club invites all coin collectors in the central Texas area to attend its meetings.

They are held the second Thursday of each month at 7:30 p.m. at the Texas Power and Light service center, 3600 Franklin Avenue, Waco.

Civil War To Dominate A.N.A. Convention Site

Civil War enthusiasts have much to look forward to when Georgia members of the American Numismatic Association will welcome over 2,000 members to the 70th annual convention August 16-19 at Atlanta's traditional convention headquarters, the Atlanta Biltmore Hotel, George M. Todd, general chairman, announces.

Already Atlanta is preparing for the 1961 centennial celebration of the Civil War with its historic points of interest.

There is the famous Stone Mountain, the world's largest exposed formation of granite, bearing the unfinished Confederate memorial commemorated on the Stone Mountain half dollar of 1925, and the famous Cyclorama, depicting the battle of Atlanta.

A tour for convention delegates is planned to Dahlonga, the site of America's first gold strike.

Delegates will be given an opportunity to actually pan for gold.

A special tour will be planned for the ladies to visit Atlanta's famous residential districts.

Exhibits chairman of the 70th convention is Philip S. Reed, P. O. Box 234, Atlanta 1, Georgia.

Bourse chairman is Robert J. Rooks, 2338 Beecher Circle, S.W., Atlanta 11, Georgia.

Antelope Club To Have Christmas Party

Members of the Antelope Valley Coin Club of Lancaster, California, are slated to hold a Christmas party meeting at their December session, regularly scheduled for Sunday afternoon, December 11, in the Antelope Valley high school cafeteria.

Officers for 1961, nominated at the November meeting, are to be elected, among other matters of business to be conducted. Visitors interested in coin collecting are welcome to attend.

Atlanta's Biltmore Hotel, headquarters of the American Numismatic Association's 70th annual convention next August 16-19, is one of the famous city's many beauty spots, as this photo indicates.

Barber Medal Immortal Memento Of Rittenhouse

David Rittenhouse, first director of the United States mint, has been labeled a man who "belonged to the whole human race."

This inscription is found on the reverse of a bronze medal executed by William Barber, mint engraver and high style artist, who perpetuated Dr. Rittenhouse's likeness on the memento.

"David Rittenhouse," with his date of birth and death is on the obverse with the descriptive phrase on the reverse. It is said this medal cannot be surpassed excepting possibly for Duvivier's head of Washington.

Although Rittenhouse's health caused him to resign as mint director in June, 1795, he leaves a series of distinctions in history aside from his mint directorship.

His ability as a mathematician gained him a surveyor's appointment by the colonial governor and he determined the famous Mason and Dixon line.

The caliber of the first director can further be determined in the fact that he succeeded Benjamin Franklin as president of the American Philosophical society.

Henry William Desaussure, a lawyer, maintained he had no ability as a mint director but Secretary of the Treasury Alexander Hamilton reassured him. He was appointed to succeed Rittenhouse July 8, 1795, but resigned the following October.

A literary man next took over the manufacture of money — Elias Boudinot. He stayed in office 11 years. The mint was closed, however, for long periods during a five-year outbreak of yellow fever.

Robert Patterson, a native of Ireland, appointed January 17, 1806, was succeeded by Dr. Samuel Moore in 1824. Dr. Moore was one of the first graduates of Penn university.

The sixth director of the mint was Dr. Robert Maskell Patterson, son of the aforementioned Robert Patterson. He took office May 26, 1835. Coinage production was completely revolutionized under his jurisdiction.

The seventh and eighth directors of the mint were Dr. George N. Eckert and Thomas M. Pettit. Dr. Eckert served two years; Pettit, appointed in 1853, died a few weeks after his appointment.

Dr. James Ross Snowden, appointed ninth director June 3, 1853, is beloved by the numismatic world. He directed the publication of two volumes — "The Mint Manual of Coins of all Nations" and "The Medallic Memorials of Washington." The latter was a description of his own collection.

Nickel was first coined, a collection of minerals was added and the mint structure was fire-proofed under Dr. Snowden's direction.

James Pollock was the 10th director and first superintendent of the mint. A past governor of Pennsylvania, he served in congress three terms.

Henry Richard Linderman, director and assay chief, wrote the coinage act of 1873 and secured its passage through congress. He was responsible for the transformation of the bureau of the mints and the entire coinage and assay service.

Col. A. Loudon Snowden, nephew of a former director and former postmaster of Philadelphia, assumed control of the Philadelphia mint as its second superintendent March 1, 1879.

Daniel M. Fox and Colonel Bosbyshell are prominent as superintendents of the United States mint as the 19th century came to an end. As third and fourth superintendents they served under President Grant and President Harrison.

I can, "junior" collectors, and deplore a custom I have run across in several clubs of setting junior members apart from "regulars", although I do favor reducing their membership fees. Youngsters don't have the income that adults do! But they can know as much.

Speaking of clubs, I have been a member of a dozen or more, in half a dozen states, and feel somewhat qualified to talk about them. In a future column, I would like to describe some of the programs and meetings that I have especially enjoyed, with or without mention of their weak spots.

However, I do not want to be as personal all the time as I am being in these first few columns. There are too many things going on in numismatics that deserve discussion, to be devoting so much space to one collector, especially since he is doing the writing! Right now, I am merely obeying the boss' orders. I have a little sign which says "The boss may not be always right, but he is still the BOSS!"

So — Our first objective in collecting has been to "fill the holes", the second, to improve the quality. It is a continuous, never-ending process, BUT it can be done on a "shoestring". In fact, our collection has cost so little over face value, that I am almost ashamed — and by now we have quite a number of proof coins as well as the "poors" — and we call ourselves the "shoestring collectors".

I'll slip an example in here of one method of improving a series, and later go into a few others. Jimmy saw a bargain in 1909-S VDB cents uncirculated at $13, and bought two. One went into our book, the other we held for a few months then sold for $25. So the one we kept cost us a dollar! We have used that method on quite a few of our best coins.

Filling the holes is what I call fun, one of the most enjoyable aspects of collecting, and the less the coin cost, the more fun! Looking through a batch of coins for a missing item is like looking for "buried treasure", and finding it is cause for rejoicing, just as much so if you find a duplicate of what you already have. The duplicate can always be traded for what you don't have.

(Keep that buried treasure in mind — I really did run across one not long ago, and I'll write about it one of these weeks.)

There are certain fundamental, tried and true, methods of filling the holes, easily summed up. Looking at your change when you make a purchase in a store is, of course, the simplest. Then looking through rolls of circulated coins from a bank probably comes next.

Another is having friends who help by either looking through their own change, or by letting you look through their cash registers if they are in business as I mentioned last week. Let everybody you know be aware that you want coins, and most of them will be helpful in one way or another, unless they are also coin collectors!

In the latter case, the answer is easy — trade. Every collector has a few duplicates, and all you need is to find somebody who has an extra of what you want when you have one that he wants. Joining a coin club if one is handy, and even if it isn't (I have driven 50 miles or more one way to attend meetings) widens the oppor-

Almost Everyone Prefers America's First Family of Coin Albums

THE LIBRARY OF COINS

By Any Standard, Still The Best!

Complete visibility and complete protection, the two most-wanted features of a coin album, are presented for the first time by THE LIBRARY OF COINS. Bound like books, handsome and compact, each Library of Coins volume displays and protects its coins between two sliding panels of clear, tough plastic. Each coin "porthole" has printed next to it full data on mint mark and quantity minted. Each volume contains a brief background story on the coins, giving both the novice and advanced collector helpful information, including a listing of the rare dates.

Measuring 8 1/4" x 6 1/4", the volumes are low priced, sturdily manufactured, and permanently bound in a variety of identifying colors for the various denominations. Their compact size permits the storing of a large coin collection in very small space. Backbones are clearly gold stamped so that they are as readily identifiable as are books.

The Library of Coins represents the first major innovation in high grade coin albums in more than 30 years, and was several years in development.
